What Does 'Probation' Mean?

The Appomattox County Jaycees wish to join the Junior Woman's Club in expressing our sincere thanks to the 115 citizens of Appomattox County who donated blood to the Red Cross Bloodmobile on Tuesday, Oct. 28, and an especial thanks to those 14 who gave for the first time. To those twenty-five citizens who volunteered but were turned away we also say thank you. Had these people been permitted to contribute we would have fallen only nine pints short of our quota, which was 149 pints. But we still would have fallen short.

Because we did not reach our assigned quota of 149 pints, Appomattox County will be put on probation by the Red Cross blood program. You may ask, "What does it mean for us to be on probation?" This means that should a citizen of Appomattox County be outside the Appalachian Region (Roanoke-Lynchburg Area) and require blood, they would not be able to receive this blood free of charge unless they or a member of their immediate family had given blood in the past year. You may say "Well that won't affect me, I don't plan to leave the area anyway." Well, let's look at it from another angle. Suppose you or a member of your family needs blood right here at home and because of a lack of donors, your type of blood is not available, what would you do then?

You will be given another chance to donate blood on Jan. 27, 1970, Mark this date on your calendar for it is a vital date in your life.

If you are a person who feels that he is asked to donate something just a little too often, don't think of it as giving, think of it as a deposit in the bank of life, to be withdrawn in case of an emergency, for essentially that is what it is.

Again to those of you who contributed and those who tried but were turned away, we say thank you. And to the Junior Woman's Club, we say, well done.

The Appomattox County Jaycees.

Donation Day Set For Hospital

The 1969 Donation Day for Crippled Children's Hospital will be Tuesday, Nov. 25. A total of $180,000 will be needed to complete operating expenses for 1969.

Crippled Children's Hospital relies greatly upon contributions from the public to maintain its costly program. Each year more than 4,898 patients, who otherwise would remain handicapped for life, are treated without charge to their families. The doctors give their time and skill free, Busy Richmonders on the Board of Trustees, the Board of Managers and the Junior Board put in hours of labor to keep the hospital running smoothly.

But in the final analysis, it takes money. Hospital costs miraculously have been held to $21.09 per day, chiefly because of the volunteer help given by churches, clubs and civic organizations. The hospital is not a member of the United Givers Fund and does not benefit from the sale of Easter Seals. Once a year it looks to Virginians for the funds it needs so desperately and ask them to share in our program to restore these crippled children to physical health and usefulness.

The future of Patricia Crawford from Fredericks, Va. looks brighter every day. Born with a congenital dislocation of the left hip, Patricia, after being a patient at Crippled Children's Hospital for sixteen months with serial casting for hips and lower extremities, looks forward to a normal life of running and playing just as other children. After the casts were removed, other treatment was to follow. She received physical therapy for several months. The progress she attained is due partly to the work of the hospital's Physical Therapist, through exercises, massage, learning to walk in a walker and finally to walk without any assistance. Patricia walked for the first time just a few months ago.

During the past five years activities at Crippled Children's Hospital have increased. Operations have doubled during this period. This year the hospital has added an outpatient department due to the increased number of patients seen in the various clinics. In this program Crippled Children's Hospital is continuing its great tradition of giving every handicapped child the highest level of care in the best possible surroundings.

This week's Donation Day offers a timely opportunity to send a check to Crippled Children's Hospital, 2924 Brook Rd., Richmond, Va. 23220. A host of children will include you in their thanks.
